2021

The Beginnings

Utthan's journey began in 1981, when four women chose to work in the desolate Bhal region of Gujarat, helping marginalized communities to self-organise around critical livelihood issues and develop local leadership. Utthan, which means 'upliftment' in Hindi initiated a people's movement comprising a large number of women and youth, to address their rights to regular, safe drinking water, protecting and accessing common land for their livelihood security, challenging patriarchy, feudal exploitation and caste discrimination at local levels. In the process, Utthan facilitated the formation of a community-based organisation known as Mahiti (knowledge), which has been a local force since 1994.

Utthan's intense work for nearly 40 years has been in the drought-prone coastal areas of Saurashtra - Amreli, Bhavnagar and Kutch districts and the poverty-stricken tribal districts of Dahod, Panchmahal, and Mahisagar of south Gujarat. Continuing its quest for exploration and sharing of learning's, Utthan's leadership and work has extended to neighbouring districts and to communities in Chattisgarh, Jharkhand, Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra and Odisha, as well as to movements in South Asia and across the world.

THRUST AREAS

- Livelihood Security
- Gender equity & Women's rights
- Conflict transformation towards peace & justice
- Access to safe water, sanitation & hygiene
- Institutional Building & Leadership Development

Livelihood Security

Establishing models demonstrating gender sensitive, ecologically sustainable livelihood security alternatives to enhance incomes, improve food security and quality of life of the most marginalized

The Village Development Committees (VDCs) were facilitated in the selection of Demo partners on just indicators and with those showing commitment to share learnings with others. The team with the support of VDCs facilitated several scaleable livelihood demonstrations with 100 women farmer families by providing trainings in sustainable agriculture package of practices and on field support. The VDCs played a role in monitoring of demonstrations. These demonstrations became learning sites for other farmers.

Micro planning & Gram Panchayat Development Planning: Intensive exercises included orientation of hamlet wise leadership, Village Development Committee and Panchayats for preparing Integrated Village Plans was taken up in four villages. Panchayats were involved for the first time in a detailed village needs assessment process. Men and women were facilitated to discuss village needs in various sector through on-site visits and focus group discussions. Discrimination, exclusion, safety of most vulnerable were kept in mind while culling out village needs hamlet wise and for the various common needs.

Building capacities of 1000 women master farmers in sustainable agriculture

Women Master Farmers spread over 30 villages of 6 blocks: 929 women-master trainers gained experience through capacity building & demonstrations in various livelihood practices/innovations. This led to implementing scientific PoPs themselves. They further reached out nearly 1800 other women farmers to spread their learning/for replication. This led to better recognition of women as farmers and holders of technical knowledge by village community

Discussions: Motashamaya model village

Horticulture activities (1500 Nos of Mango, Guava, Lemon, Drumstick). 20000 no.'s of Sagvan, Sevan, Kher, Limda plantation were done over 16 Ha.

Implementing an integrated model by bringing legislations that have a scope of strengthening democratic processes at the village level in coherence to achieve the target of a systematic and procedural governance mechanism in poor rainfed areas

Three Fellows joined a cohort of persons working at the grassroots at the village level in Maharashtra, Gujarat and Chhattisgarh in a collective collaboration with Revitalizing Rainfed Agriculture Network and Centre for Social Justice. They attended three learning cohorts to build an understanding in using The Panchayat (Extension to Scheduled Areas) Act (PESA), 1996, Scheduled Tribes and Other Traditional Forest Dwellers (Recognition of Forest Rights) Act, 2006 (FRA), The Biological Diversity Act, 2002 (BDA) and the Compensatory Afforestation Fund Act, 2016 (CAFA) to strengthen democratic processes through establishment of various committees envisaged under these laws to promote and implement themes of rainfed agriculture and preserve natural and biological resources. Efforts to establish and strengthen various committees envisaged under these laws to promote and implement themes of rainfed agriculture and preserve natural and biological resources were taken up in 18 villages of Dahod and Mahisagar districts.

Linkages with varied stakeholders

Safety & Security of Women & Girls

- Approximately 335 survivors of violence approached the Nyay Samitis run by the Women's Federations and were supported to access justice through individual, family counselling, legal recourse.
- Data collection for an Utthan conceived Study on Safety of women and girls in rural public spaces was initiated. Institute of Social Studies Trust, our knowledge collaborator conducted an orientation to discuss the tools, which were then administered by team and Nyay Samiti members.

5 Nyay Samitis informal redressal mechanism - supported 335 survivors, building precedents

One of the firsts in Saurashtra:

Approval of compensation of Rs. 4 lakhs for rape survivor, recd. Rs. 1 lakh

2 cases involving satta paddati successful resolved, stringly influenced caste panchayat

Witch labelling, an important issue being dealt with in tribal area

Women's Rights to Resources and Entitlements

- Land, Property & Forest Rights: The four paralegal workers of the Swabhoomi Kendras running in Ghogha, Bhavnagar & Dhanpur, Dahod directly reached out to 20 villages through regular interactions with various stakeholders. One paralegal worker on forest rights reached out to 10 villages. 850 individual forest rights and 143 individual claims were facilitated.

Swabhoomi Kendras - Women's Land, Property & Forest Rights

- Part of Collective Impact Study
- Legal Clinics as a strategy
- 850 IFRs - 143 IFR claims passed, 57 in appeal, rest in process
- 16 CFRs

Empowering Young Girls through Higher Education

- Utthan's collaboration with the Kavita Mehta Foundation (KMF) for the sponsorship of 8 girls to reach the top of the ladder and complete their higher education continued.

Conflict transformation towards Peace & Justice

Documenting transformative change processes of a model, providing the scope to motivated youth from marginalised communities to become ambassadors of inclusive and peaceful coexistence

Efforts of 24 Fellows reaching out to 230 villages in coastal and tribal area to create awareness pertaining to Constitutional rights and values

- Improved sensitivity amongst Fellows: More sensitive towards societal issues such as dowry practice, gender discrimination led to initiating change in their own families
- Using RTI as a tool for accountability: In tribal areas fellows used RTI as a tool to hold Gram Panchayat accountable and got hand pumps, road and other development works done
- Strengthening Gram Sabha: Their outreach has increased, leading to increased women participation in Gram Sabhas in about 60 villages of both areas
- Education: Youth groups are being made in Mahuva, who are actively working on School Monitoring Committees furthering importance of Gram Sabhas
- Local platforms: Nagrik Manch is being set up in Bhavnagar and Rajula. Mahuva Nagrik Manch already deals with issues plaguing the society
- Awareness on Ethical voting: Election campaign was carried out in both areas of 220 villages in the May. Action was taken around experienced failing of EVMs in tribal areas to ensure replacement and resumption of casting of votes
- Collaborations: were made with CSJ in coastal area for integration of legal awareness in 30 villages of Rajula. Amreli district. Rapport with 'Nyay Samitis' was built for connecting women facing violence
- Building community leaders: Built a critical mass from within community. Been able to connect values with issues at the grassroots
- Initiated work by involving different type of target groups and use of local folk culture as a media
- Dayro, Kabirvani group

Voices of Saathi Fellows

Access to Safe Drinking Water, Sanitation & Hygiene

Institutional Capacity building for Gender-sensitive and Inclusive WASH in communities

- Monitoring visits & handholding with 10 CSOs in Chhattisgarh, Jharkhand, Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra, Odisha for recommendations for future action plans. As the National Resource Agency of Bharat Rural Livelihood Foundation to facilitate an appropriate implementation of inclusive and sustainable water and sanitation programs (WASH), the initial months of the year were spent in consolidating experiences. Training modules for CSO trainers were finalized and IEC material in Hindi for CSOs was provided

Sharing Utthan's learnings in gender sensitive WASH mechanisms

- Utthan developed an action plan to apply its years of learning in gender sensitive WASH community capacities in the work areas of NGOs supported by the Bajaj Foundation. Several discussions were taken up for potential collaborations. Utthan also developed potential for rainwater harvesting solutions in urban Ahmedabad.

Expanding to Bharuch for intensive efforts in Empowering women through securing their rights to access to safe and sufficient drinking water, ODF sanitation and hygiene through gender just community mechanisms.

- This collaboration helps us implement a strategic mission of applying our collated learning's in the Water, Sanitation, Hygiene (WASH) Thrust area to create a model in a new location with a new type of stakeholder.
- Community organising & coordination with Panchayat and village institutions
- Quantitative & qualitative data collection & analysis of 2 villages (464 household surveys ,5 Focus Group Discussions)
- Preparation of 3-year Action plan was taken up based on baseline
- Utthan's new full-time operations were initiated in Valia (Bharuch) on 1st Feb.2020.
